

PROTECTIVE INTELLIGENCE

Know the Threats You Face

Executive Protection

High net-worth (HNW) individuals - including professional athletes, TV personalities, politicians, executives and other people of notariety - must consider the threats they face in today's world. Be it hackers looking to pilfer personal or business bank accounts, confidence schemes leading to extortion, or physical threats of violence or kidnapping, HNW individuals must take precautions. Knowing the threats facing you, and understanding your adversaries, allows you to make well informed decisions and take the steps to protect yourself, your family, your business, and your interests.

Raven's Expert Solution

Raven offers the most detailed and effective protective intelligence collection, analysis, and consultation services. Raven's expert consultants are former CIA & DoD Intelligence Officers, and Federal Law Enforcement officers with decades of experience combating threats of every type around the world. Utilizing proprietary Artificial Intelligence (AI), Raven collects tailored intelligence from across the dark net, internet, social media, news outlets, various communications channels, and thousands of other sources around the world.

Raven's consultants tailor collection plans for each client to fit their daily life, business, travel, family dynamic, and consideration of many other factors. Raven's team of analysts and consultants monitor each client's protective intelligence collection. Ensuring clients maximize the benefits from this collection, Raven provides both analysis and insight to identify threats and dangers, as well as steps to mitigate these issues before they become problems.

OverWatch™ scours the internet, darknet, social media, and thousands of other data sources to identify if your domain is breached or user credentials are compromised. Operating 24/7, OverWatch™ immediately identifies evidence of compromises or breaches.

Most data loss happens before a company identifies that their networks have been breached. - such as Target, Netflix, Equifax, and many others.

Detecting compromises and breaches quickly allows you to react! With 24/7 monitoring, and immediate alerts, you will be prepared to protect your data and your company!

Video

If you utilize video surveillance at your facilities, or as part of your counter surveillance operations, you know that monitoring video is time consuming and manpower intensive. Use Prometheus to monitor your video feeds and alert you to threats, intrusions, and other information you need.
